Afterwards the remainder of the day is at leisure to wander about on your own. This evening gather together for a light practice and have a friendly game against a local Cork Select Team.

DAY 4– GALWAY

This morning you will travel to and be introduced to Galway, Ireland. It has long since been known as "The City of the Tribes" and this title could not be more appropriate these days, given the multicultural vibrancy of present-day Galway. Enjoy this afternoon at leisure in Galway. Galway lends itself to walking, the city centre is compact and it is always lively and a pleasure to be in. You might choose to visit the broad expanse of Eyre Square or visit the Spanish Arch at the south end of the pedestrian mall which is one of the few remaining parts of the town's ancient defenses. Lovers of pub culture will delight in Galway's traditional public houses, from The Quays, Murphy's Bar, Monroe's Tavern and so much more. This evening you will gather and have a friendly game.

Game Two vs. TBD

DAY 5 – GALWAY

This morning as part of an on going tradition, the local basketball club team invites you to participate in the Junior Basketball Camp where they invite children from the surrounding area to come and be coached by the travelling team. During the afternoon you are once again free to absorb all of the sites Galway has to offer. This evening you all gather together for a team dinner.

At the base of the atrium lies a copy of the 9,000 year lease signed by Arthur Guinness on the Brewery site.
